Investment Summary
November 2024

Market & Economic Commentary

Markets rallied in November after Donald Trump and the Republican Party secured control of the US Presidency and Congress. Trump's economic and trade policies, including tax cuts, tariffs, deregulation, and mass deportations, have raised concerns about inflation, rising debt, a stronger US dollar, and tighter labour markets. These risks suggest volatile inflation, slower interest rate cuts, and a potential surge in US public debt.

US stock indexes rose in November, with the S&P 500 up 5.73%, Dow Jones up 7.54%, and Nasdaq up 6.84%. Global markets were mostly higher, except for Japan's Nikkei, which dropped 2.22%. The ASX 200 rose, led by technology and financials, while resources, particularly gold, underperformed. Valuations are high, with the ASX 200's forward price-earnings ratio at 18.5x, above the long-term average of 14.5x.

The AUD fell below USD 0.65, influenced by a strong USD, which rose following Trump's election. Although Trump prefers a weaker USD, his policies may drive the greenback higher, impacting global markets and possibly strengthening the USD further.

Germany's economy contracted in 2023 and early 2024 due to high inflation, rising interest rates, and energy costs. It remains one of the weakest major economies. In China, the government announced a major fiscal stimulus package to offset trade tensions and the impact of potential US tariffs, which could negatively affect Australian exports like iron ore and coal.

Despite market momentum, valuations are stretched, and geopolitical and economic risks remain elevated. A defensive stance is recommended as uncertainty surrounding US policy grows.

Key Trends for the Year Ahead:

- Inflation is falling steadily.
- Central banks, including the Reserve Bank of Australia, are lowering interest rates.
- Global growth is moderate, with no major recession anticipated.
- The USD and gold are strong, while the AUD and crude oil are weak.
- Share market valuations remain high.
- The US economy is growing robustly, while Australia's economy is subdued.
- Bond markets are at risk due to high debt levels in developed economies.

Portfolio Commentary

The Sterling Clime Conservative portfolio returned 1.1% for the month of November, underperforming its benchmark which returned 1.8%. The key drivers of portfolio performance and major portfolio changes are outlined in the tables below.

Positive Attributors	Comment
Vanguard MSCI Index International Shares (Hedged) ETF (VGAD.ASX)	In November 2024, the Vanguard MSCI Index International Shares ETF (VGAD) delivered strong performance, benefiting from a rally in global equities and a weaker Australian dollar. The ETF's currency-hedged structure amplified gains as international markets, particularly in the US, surged following favourable policy expectations under the newly elected Trump administration.
Aristocrat Leisure Limited (ALL.ASX)	ALL delivered solid performance during November following a strong FY24 result. The earnings outlook remains positive, underpinned by its dominant market position, robust underlying operating conditions and superior research and development (R&D) budget driving share gains in the high margin North American premium gaming ops division.
Negative Attributors	Comment
BHP Group Ltd (BHP.ASX)	BHP detracted from performance as the iron ore price weakened due to continued slower growth expectations in China. We maintain conviction in BHP's copper portfolio strategy, which stands to benefit from electrification and renewable energy over the long term.
GQG Partners, Inc. Shs Chess Depository Interests Repr 1 Sh (GQG.ASX)	GQG was negatively impacted during November as key investments held across its funds, particularly Adani Group companies, following news of legal action in the US. This development represented a significant change to our investment thesis, as the risk to future funds under management (FUM) inflows now appears elevated. Consequently, we decided to exit the position.

Portfolio Activity

BUY	Comment
Transurban Group Ltd. (TCL.ASX)	In the last 3 months, TCL has fallen 4% while the S&P/ASX 200 Index has risen 5%. Given the operations remain sound and dividends per share (DPS) guidance for financial year 2025 (FY25) was reiterated at the recent annual general meeting (AGM), we have decided to top-up the position.
SELL	Comment
GQG Partners, Inc. Shs Chess Depository Interests Repr 1 Sh (GQG.ASX)	GQG has a known 10% exposure to Adani Group Companies via underlying equities within its various fund strategies. We view the recently announced charges against CEO Gautam Adani and certain other Adani Group executives and companies as a clear negative impact to GQG and a change to our investment thesis. We view GQG as now carrying an elevated level of risk including potential strategy underperformance, slowing or declining funds under management (FUM) flow and a loss of institutional clients, therefore view it as prudent to exit the position.
Commonwealth Bank of Australia (CBA.ASX)	CBA has risen 12% in the last 3 months vs a broader gain for the ASX 200 of 5%. The continued rally in CBA's share price does not reconcile with recent earnings delivery or the outlook. As evidence of CBA's excessive valuation, we note that CBA recently issued a bond priced at a 6.152% p.a. coupon which compares to CBA's (higher risk) current dividend yield of 4.4% p.a. (grossed up for franking credits). Accordingly we have decided to further reduce our position on a view that valuation is excessive and will not be sustained.
Aristocrat Leisure Limited (ALL.ASX)	Following a strong run of performance we are reducing the exposure in ALL ahead of its FY24 result in November, with the market now pricing in fair value with its valuation trading on 21x Price to Earnings (PE) which is in line with its multiple pre-Plarium and Big Fish acquisitions. We retain our positive outlook for the business, however, see its near-term catalysts as priced in and take the opportunity to take some profit off the table.
